

KDX READYLAM LAMINATING FILM

DESCRIPTION

KDX ReadyLam series laminating film is a composite film product used in the field of flexible packaging. Which is composed of substrate layer, thermal activated layer, optional with barrier protective layer and heat sealing layer, and produced by extrusion lamination or coextrusion technology etc. This series of composite films is suitable for digital printing such as HP, XEIKON, etc., which makes the printing and laminating work fast to market.

APPLICATION

KDX ReadyLam series laminating film, combined with printed film to form a multilayer structure, it applies to bakery, confectionery, chocolate, biscuits, cookie, crisps and snacks, pet food, household and detergents, etc.

FEATURES AND BENEFITS

Excellent bonding

The thermal active polymer is uniquely designed for improving the bonding strength with digital printing jobs.

Eco-safe

No need of mixing and coating the glue as the normal laminating. The product is non-toxic and environmental- friendly.

Fastest time to market

No need of drying and curing after laminating, zero cure time to bring flexible packaging products to market, and meeting the needs of rapid market response.

Cost Reduction

Simplify the laminating process, save the labor, energy and greatly reduce the supply circle no matter the quantity large or little.
